

Great golf courses require several things, one of which is non-negotiable: the genius of a designer.

When Greg Norman first saw the CuisinArt site, he saw its natural assets: land that lends itself to sculpting, with spectacular views of the Caribbean Sea. These features are among the rewards of playing the game with unparalleled sea view holes that redefine the word drama. A meandering, ecologically-based watering system of lagoons and ponds gives the course its conscience, and vistas remind us why the game was invented.

FOOD & BEVERAGE OFFERINGS
